“ I love that you wrote of his playing viola on high school. We had orchestra together in middle school and we were both “first” in our instruments. We had so much fun. He really was my first middle school friend. He often hung out at a house up the street from my home and we had way too much fun with one another. I’ll miss him terribly and am truly saddened that we didn’t keep in touch more. We would check in from time to time but never saw one another when we would have liked to unfortunately. I pray for his baby and entire family. Love as always, Craigery.
