

Lindsay J. Harding

April 28, 1961 - August 6, 2019

Lindsay J. Harding, age 58, passed away in Novi on August 06, 2019.

Beloved wife of Andrew, loving mother of Luke and Sydney, daughter of Hazel and Don, sister of Jill and Peter, and aunty of Ella, Lauren, Chloé and Oliver, and faithful friend to many.

A life crowned by grace, with an open heart to help those around her.

“And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come back and take you to be with me that you also may be where I am.” Jn. 14:3.

Worthy was Lindsay of such Hope which is now her reward “Well done, good and faithful servant!” Mt. 25:23.

Lindsay was born in Meridan England. A graduate of St. Bartholomew’s Hospital School of Nursing, London England, working 6 years as a Staff Nurse specializing in renal care. Following graduation from the University of Hull with a B.Sc. in Nursing Studies Lindsay married in 1991, bought a house and raised two wonderful children. Luke our Son, and Sydney our Daughter. Both have been gifted with the Spirit of Lindsay’s generous Heart. Being drawn to education Lindsay secured employment at the Nuffield Institute as a Clinical Researcher, and experience in teaching at the University of Hull.

Work brought us to America in 1999. Settling in Texas, California and Michigan. In each of which Lindsay gave of her Time, Talents and Treasures, being part of several ministries here at Oakpointe Church; the Prayer Team, Adventure Land, Tech Team, and Coffee Team. Embracing care for others Lindsay was also a substitute Para Professional Special Education within the Novi School District. Thank you to all who provided her comfort, fellowship, and Love.

In 2004 Lindsay received the news of her diagnosis which she bore with Dignity and Grace.

I give a heart-felt thanks to all at Yoga Moves MS, an organization offering adaptive yoga classes dedicated to those with Multiple Sclerosis and other similar neuromuscular conditions. Lindsay who was always thinking of those around her studied hard and became an Instructor to guide others.

“ Lindsay was a beautiful, generous soul who always put others first. It was my sincere privilege to work along side her, enjoying the beautiful music she would do carefully and thoughtfully pick out, and trying not to laugh too loudly at the witty jokes she would whisper my way. Lindsay was a blessing and a gift to everyone she came across, and I will forever be grateful to have known her presence. May her body now rest so that her soul may be with the Lord.

“ Lindsay and I used to "work" tech together for our Wednesday morning woman's Bible study. In truth, she did all the work while I ran around getting people for her, controlled the lights, and joked with her. We'd snicker like school girls at some joke she had made as I whispered, "Shhh. You're going to get us in trouble" all while laughing the loudest myself. Usually, she'd then look at me sternly, hand me her cup, and instruct me to go make her a "dirty chai" (something she had to "train" me on). Lindsay loved music and seemed to find comfort in choosing just the right sing. She also loved her family and friends fiercely. I shall miss her laughter, her sense of humor in the midst of struggle, and I shall miss being her chaiwala. But I shall get up and turn off the lights one last time in her honor, and find peace in knowing that our Jesus is turning the lights on for her in heaven. Rest now, my friend. Your struggles are over and you can rest in the arms of our Saviour. Keep smiling, joking, and laughing until we meet again.

“ My thoughts and prayers go out to Lindsay's family- I am sorry for your loss. I had a dear friend in Lindsay, who warmhearted and authentic, with her British humor as well as with her deep personal compassion accompanied a part of my path of life. Her trust in letting me see her struggles and our tears cried together were a precious gift that I will keep dear in my heart. I picture you walk in the pure loving light of Gods love and never ever need to feel pain again. Farewell, dear Lindsay!

“ During the middle of autism testing for our son, Lindsay was always very thoughtful and intentional in following up to see how everything was going. Her calm demeanor always made me feel like I could say anything, and I repeatedly felt very supported whenever we got to catch up. She is dearly missed & loved....

“ Lindsay was the best mother a daughter could ever ask for. If you were hurting, she was there. If you felt not strong enough, she was there. If you were happy, she was there. If you reached a milestone goal, she was there. Always celebrating the love in our hearts, and stoking the fire of compassion in all of us.

Her mission in life was to live, under the circumstances, a pure and faith-based life that revolved around her love for learning, her passion and love for God, her love for her friends, and her dedication and love to our family. She has given me the strength to stand up to my own personal challenges as a young woman beginning my independent life.

Growing up, she and my father both raised both my brother and I in the most providing, teaching, and loving household. Seeing the way she treated people with such kindness and genuine heartfelt dedication has molded my world view. She was the biggest inspiration for I and others to keep on fighting and to always keep on loving no matter how dire the circumstances. Her strength was on a level of a Greek god. To keep on fighting for so long shows so. I have nothing but the upmost respect for my mother and her choice to be a strong, confident, independent person who had to do what she thought was right. Even though we will miss her, her life will be celebrated for the immeasurable amounts of blessings she brought to each and every one of us.

Mum, if you are listening, I want you to know that Luke, Dad, and I are devoting our lives to each other and will fight and love with all our hearts to maintain your legacy as our one and only Mum, and Wife. I love you so much, and I am so happy that you can rest now. You deserve so much rest. Now you will never feel the pain ever again. You will always be my #1, my star, with infinite love.

“ Lindsay’s quick wit and gentle spirit have always drawn me to her. We shared a deep friendship that can never be replicated. Lindsay’s love and compassion for others was born out of a heavenly place and specially gifted by God. My heart is broken for the loss we face. Harding family...you are in my prayers and please know that I will be here for whatever you need. Lindsay I will miss you deeply. But I know that you have run the race with endurance and now are face to face with the only One who loves perfectly. You can finally rest. I love you, my friend.
