Lynn Mary Heaphy Moore

Lynn Moore, age 71, died on February 27, 2021. Daughter of the late Edward and Laretta (Hardy) Heaphy, Lynn was born and raised in Detroit and more recently lived in Howell, MI. Lynn was preceded in death by her husband, Gordon.

Lynn is survived by her daughter Jennifer (Christopher) Chisholm and grandchildren Jacob and Addison, her siblings Gary (Joan), Maureen, Karen White, Chris (Janice), Kimberly, Michael (Tanya) Heaphy, numerous nieces, nephews and great nieces and nephews.

Lynn was an honorable and caring person. She loved being a mother and grandmother and attended her grandchildren's soccer games. Her love of horseback riding was passed to her daughter and granddaughter. The stamp club friends gave her artistic talent an outlet and a reason to go out to lunch.

She enjoyed the Heaphy get togethers which occurred several times each year. Her travel with the Nomads took her and Gordon around the world. She is still friends with people she met as a youngster and teenager. Lynn was grateful for her son-in-law that helped her around the house after Gordon's death. Although she is in a better place now, she will be missed by many people.

“ I've known Lynn for many years through our art club meetings. Lynn was always upbeat, helpful, funny, and a source of beautiful art work. She was very self-effacing, and sought to build others up with words of praise and encouragement. Her stories were legendary and so funny at times. To know Lynn, was to love Lynn. Her passing leaves a huge hole in our little crafting community, and she will be missed. 'Til we meet again, dear lady.

“ She enjoyed her art groups and mentioned them often to me. During the Covid lockdown, her group meetings and luncheons were sorely missed. Maureen
